3. There is a reconditioned Polish Army aircraft field eight kilometers east of Slupsk (Stolp - P55/H09). It is located on the highway between Slupsk and Leborg in the village of Redzikowo (Reitz - P 55/ N 09). The field was operated by the Germans during the war and then abandoned; during the past two years, the Polish Army has reactivated and enlarged the field.
2. The air base has been enlarged to a size of about 150 hectares. Woods at the northern end have been cleared and the runways extended. The airfield measures about 3,000 by 2,000 meters now. The field is bounded to the north by a wooded area and to the south by a main highway. The entire area is surrounded by a barbed wire fence.
3. Barracks are located near the highway; one large and two small hangars are located on the field. It is believed that most of the aircraft at the field are for training purposes. The number of runways is not known; in 1951 the field was enlarged to accommodate interceptor planes (samoloty odrutowe).
4. Two Polish military units are quartered in the barracks; one, reportedly a regiment, is connected with the Air Force (sic); a second is a unit which is undergoing training. The members of the unit wear naval uniforms.

1/   Comment. The nearest port is Ustka, 25 kilometers distant. The assignment of this unit is unknown.
